REBELLIOUS SUBJECTS ARE CRUSHED AGAIN

Men Are Restrained, But Only as is the Wild Beast.

Gosky and Others Proclaim a "Future Provisional Government" and Issue a Manifesto.

NO MORE BLOODSHED, STRIKE GROWS

ROYAL FAMILY PROSTRATE.

Paris, Jan. 24.—Correspondents of the French papers say that the Russian imperial family is prostrated with terror. The czar is dejected and greatly worried by reports that numbers of strikers are marching on St. Petersburg.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.

London, Jan. 24.—The Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent reports that as the outcome of meetings of the reform party of Gosky, Anensky, Arsenoff and others, and their adherents Saturday night and Sunday, a body of men has been constituted who regard themselves as the future provisional government of Russia. As yet, the correspondent says, they are political ciphers; but they hope some sudden stroke of luck will enable them to overturn the existing regime, and at the same time they recognize the fact that non-success may lead them to Siberia, or the tomb.

Gosky and the others issued the following manifesto: "Every foreign loan contracted after Sunday, January 22, we will unhesitatingly repudiate, because no nation can now loan the Russian government in good faith or in ignorance because of the fact that the people and bureaucracy are struggling to determine which of them shall really represent the nation."

LEAVING FOR PLACES OF SAFETY.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—Thousands of strikers at noon assembling in Nevsky Prospekt. This locality contains the homes of many of the fashionable element of the city. Outgoing trains are carrying the wives and children of prominent St. Petersburg citizens to places of safety. A number of government printers resumed work this morning. A thousand are still idle at the electric works, which shut down last night as a result of the workmen going out, and are now manned by military electricians. The current was switched on again this morning.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF DEATH.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—The government has issued an official statement through the columns of the official messenger, stating that there were no serious clashes yesterday and no casualties occurred. The number of casualties Sunday is reported at from fifty-three registered ambulances at ninety-six killed and 300 wounded. The strikers last night attempted to plunder the big Universal provender store, but were repelled. All the rifles in the Sestroretsk rifle factory were taken by strikers.

Mutiny of Russian Soldiers.

London, Jan. 24.—Specimens to London papers bristle with sensational statements. A correspondent at Kioff of the Express asserts that naval depots at Sevastopol have been destroyed by revolutionary outbreak of sailors of the Black Sea fleet and gives circumstantial details of thousands of these men rising and taking their officers and firing and destroying buildings while the troops summoned to quell the revolt refused to fire at all or fired in the air.

Other dispatches report soldiers killed by bomb throwing, raiding of government rifle factories, etc., none of which can be confirmed in any responsible quarter.

Strike Is Growing.

Moscow, Jan. 24.—The strike movement is spreading through the Moscow district. This morning the gas works are idle, and guarded by troops, and the same conditions prevail at the electric works. The printers have struck and there will be no papers in Moscow today. There has been no fighting yet, but men are marching about the city gathering recruits from the factories and stores as they go.

Controlled by Hosts.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—Despite the quiet which pervades the city, there are constant small outbreaks which show that the fighting of revolution is far from dormant. The men are like wild beasts held in check by an overpowering influence, but let them once taste victory and death alone could stop them.

Threatens to Kill.

London, Jan. 24.—A dispatch from Moscow to Reuters' Telegram company, says: "The deputy prefect has issued a proclamation warning the public, in view of the strike, to avoid assemblies and processions, otherwise the same severe measures will be adopted as at St. Petersburg."

Rioting at Kovno.

Kovno, Russia, Jan. 24.—The strike movement is growing here and rioting today began. No serious damage has yet resulted. Kovno is on the border of Germany and has few residents.

Goes to Moscow.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—It is reported today that Father Gapon has gone to Moscow to conduct the strikers propaganda there.

Officers Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—Davidoff, captain, and Kurozoff, senior officer of the battery from which the loaded shell was fired on January 19, striking the imperial pavilion and other buildings, have been arrested.

To Seize Provisions.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—A report has gained currency that the strikers intend to storm the market on Vassilostrof and seize the provision there.

At Kolpino, twelve miles up the river, a body of workmen who had started for St. Petersburg to join the strikers, were stopped and fired upon by soldiers. Accounts as to the number of killed or wounded conflict.

A Clash Reported.

London, Jan. 24.—A telegram from St. Petersburg reports that a conflict between strikers and Cossacks occurred late this afternoon.

Message From Gapon.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—Father Gapon today sent the following message to his followers: "Zar" does not exist. No longer pray for liberty."

Agitators Are Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—Emissaries of the socialist party are again distributing proclamations among the strikers today. These proclamations inveigh against autocracy, the emperor and officials for their treatment of peasants and the cruel firing on defenseless men and women Sunday. They conclude with a slogan, "Long live the revolution, long live constituent assembly and representatives of the people."

Several arrests of agitators were made this afternoon.

No man wastes as much time as the man who never wastes any in kindness.

DID "DOCK" BOYD TAKE HIS OWN LIFE?

Well Known Horse Trader Found Dead Today.

HAD LIVED HERE MANY YEARS

O. C. Boyd, better known as "Dock" Boyd, a well known horse trader, was found dead in bed about 10 o'clock this morning at his home 523 South Second street by Charles Inman, who resides with his brother in the other side of the house. It is thought to be a case of suicide.

Boyd arrived home last night about 10:20 o'clock in charge of some one, and after being put to bed, his neighbors heard him groaning as if in great pain, and finally about 10:30 o'clock Mr. George Inman went in and begged Boyd to let him call a doctor. The man declined, and Mr. Inman left him.

This morning he failed to feed his horse at the usual time, and finally his body was found cold and stiff. He had evidently been dead several hours, and his body was discolored as if from morphine poisoning.

When Boyd reached home last night he was vomiting and appeared to be very ill, but as he did not seem to want a doctor, nothing further was done by the family next door, when they heard him groan at various intervals during the night. The last time Mr. Inman remembers hearing him was about 6 o'clock this morning, when he was heard to say, "The Lord have mercy."

It was four hours later that Mr. Charles Inman went in and shouted to Boyd and upon investigation found him dead.

It is the general belief that it is a case of suicide. Boyd had been married three times, his first two wives being dead. About two months ago he married Mrs. A. Cathey, but they separated four weeks ago.

Yesterday she went to the house and took away her clothing and other property, which seemed to grieve Boyd very much, and he is alleged to have afterwards threatened to commit suicide, because of his domestic troubles.

The dead man had been a stock trader hereabout for the past twenty-five years and had lived on South Second street for nine years. He has a wealthy brother, T. H. Boyd, in Chicago, and two sisters who are said to live in Nashville. He was known all over this section of the country. He was a picturesque looking character at times, always wearing a wide slouch hat, and having long, drooping moustache. He would have made a typical cowboy.

After the corpse was found Coroner Crow and Detective T. J. Moore were notified and made an investigation of the case, deciding to hold a postmortem and ascertain the cause of death.

The records at the court house show that Boyd was born in Eastern Kentucky, and was 52 years old. He was married to Mrs. Alphine Cathey October 31.

The inquest this afternoon failed to develop any proof of suicide and it was decided not to hold a postmortem. County Physician Pendley made an examination and stated that there were no external traces of poison.

The evidence showed that Boyd had been complaining for several days of being slightly ill, and he may have died from natural causes.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that he came to his death from unknown causes.

WILL WIND UP THE ESTATE OF HIS BROTHER

B. Frank Billington, of Woodville, left Friday for Bachelor, La., to settle up the affairs of his brother, Charles Billington, who was murdered there about ten days since.

Oremont, Pa., Jan. 24.—Frank Croker, of New York, died of injuries received yesterday in an automobile accident.

The past several days have made skating at Wallace park very fine, and today many skaters are out, while tonight a large crowd is promised.

WORKING ON CLUE TO DISCLOSE CRIME

Man Found Dead Near Mayfield May be Known.

Patrol Driver John Austin Thinks He Was a Painter Named Os- well, of Paducah.

THE MAN HAS DISAPPEARED

Patrol Driver John Austin, of Paducah, and Marshal McNutt, of Mayfield, are working on a clue which may reveal the identity of the man found dead with his throat cut in a hay stack on a farm near Mayfield several weeks ago.

Marshal McNutt was in Paducah a short time ago conferring with Officer Austin but nothing definite resulted from the conference. He came, it is understood, to investigate a clue he was working on and got just the information he wanted.

Officer Austin knew the man and his past history and it is said Marshal McNutt is working from the other end to bring the facts together.

The theory is that the man found dead is Oswell, a painter formerly residing near Fourth and Kentucky avenue here, and who separated from his wife and had since been a tramp. He has disappeared and no trace can be found of him, and McNutt thinks the dead man and Oswell are the same. This belief is shared by Officer Austin. It is said, and also J. C. Harris, a railroad man in Mayfield, who knew Oswell. The wife is said to live in Cairo now.

Officer Austin said today that there had been nothing definite done in the case, and it might be a day or two before anything could be given out. It was reported in Mayfield today that warrants were likely to be issued for the alleged murder of the man at any time.

AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Mr. William Gholson Died of a Com- plication of Diseases.

Mr. William D. Gholson, after a long illness from a complication of diseases, died last evening at his home, 1910 Broad street, age 38. The deceased was a lumber inspector and was a popular man, having resided in Paducah and the county all his life.

He leaves a wife and six children, and two brothers, Messrs. Burton and Walter Gholson, and a sister, Mrs. Ed Greff. He was a nephew of Dr. J. G. Brooks.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning, the time to be decided on later, burial at Oak Grove.

BOY HAS DONE NOTHING; GOES TO REFORM SCHOOL.

Marshal Bryant, the 16-year-old boy who applied to Chief of Police James Collins to send him to the reform school, will be taken to Lexington and placed in the school, Chief Collins having received a telegram saying he would be accepted.

Young Bryant says he wants to escape evil companions.

Detective T. J. Moore will take him to Lexington tonight.

UNCLE SAM SUMMONS PADUCAH MACHINIST

Wanted to go to Chicago and Testify.

Lottery Alleged to Have Been Oper- ated There and Tickets Sold to Local Shop Men.

TRIAL SET FOR JANUARY 30

Great excitement prevailed in the I. C. shops here yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock when Deputy U. S. Marshal George Saunders, accompanied by a young gentleman of very shrewd appearance who had been deputized for the purpose of identification, strolled through the shops in quest of M. McMahon, a machinist employed at the shops wanted as a witness in the case against L. A. Goughlin and J. H. Dalton, in Chicago, charged with using the mails to fraudulently conduct a lottery system. The employees of the shops knew the genial deputy marshal and knew his visit to the shops meant something and were much puzzled until McMahon was located and service secured.

It seems that McMahon acted as agent for the Chicago men and it is said sold something like 300 tickets in an alleged lottery here last summer. Clarence Ellithorpe, a shishsh machinist, is said to have assisted McMahon, but he is in Chicago working and has been summoned in that city. The summons commanded McMahon to appear in Chicago on the 30th to appear as a witness, and the report that he was wanted on an indictment is erroneous.

Many shop men bought tickets in the loan company, which the operators allege is not a lottery, and many failed to understand the company at all and have held their tickets merely as keepsakes. A reporter secured one of the tickets which reads:

"The Old Reliable Guaranty Loan and Trust Company of California." This is the head of the ticket and under it is printed in large letters over smaller printing giving conditions, the words "Bond and Loan Application."

The certificate has a very innocent appearance but the government thinks it a lottery and will investigate it thoroughly.

McMahon was not required to give any bond for his appearance, the summons merely being read, and will go in time to attend the trial.

It is authoritatively stated that no action will be taken against the Paducah men who are alleged to have acted as agents. They are merely wanted as witnesses.

CAPITOL REMOVAL SEEMS ASSURED

Test Vote Was Taken in the House Today.

The Vote There Was 48 to 23—Capt. W. C. Clark Against a New Site.

VOTE IN THE SENATE NEXT

All the Republicans present except W. C. Black, F. C. Nolla and A. D. Park, voted against the Brewry resolution.

The Republicans mentioned were present but did not vote. Fred A. Vaughan, Republican, was absent.

The Democrats who voted against the Brewry resolution were: Sam Black, W. C. Clark, W. D. Claybrook, Sam D. Cochran, J. W. Cravens, J. A. Frazier, W. L. Hughes, John R. Ray, J. T. Scott, H. L. Stevens and A. S. Thompson. The vote was 48 to 23.

CITY SUPERVISORS MAKE FEW CHANGES

There Have Been Both Raises and Decreases.

Not Enough to Have Much Effect On the Assessment—City After the Loan Companies.

LICENSES ARE COMING SLOWLY.

Not much encouragement comes from the board of city supervisors in regard to an increased assessment this year. The board has made many changes, some being raises and some decreases, but there have thus far been none that will make any great change in the total assessment in Paducah of last year.

A great many people are interested in the assessment, not only because it involves many of them personally, but because it will decide the tax rate for the year. If the assessment is large enough, the tax rate may be as low as now, or no higher than now, $1.65. But from present indications the tax rate may be as high as $1.85, then there is a prospect of not having enough money for many things that are worst needed, as it is.

Several city officials seem to be pained with the prospect of doing something to some of the smaller loan companies. They claim that it is necessary to protect poor people from being "gouged."

"It works this way in some of them," declared an official today. "You borrow $5, and must pay, say $1.35 a week for five weeks. At the end of five weeks you have been paying interest at the rate of about 25 per cent, but that isn't the worst. I understand that some of them stipulate that if a borrower misses a week, he forfeits what he has already paid, and has to begin over, or lose what he has put up as collateral, which is always worth much more than the amount borrowed."

"One case reported here was of someone who borrowed $20 on a piano. When it was reported here $37 had already been paid back, and there was still $31 claimed against the piano. This sort of robbery ought to stop, even if the poor unfortunates who are victimized need the money so badly that they are willing."

Owing to the high officials who are now preparing to put their foot down on it, there is a prospect of early results. The companies aimed at do not include the larger, legitimate concerns.

City Treasurer John Dorian stated this morning that licenses were coming in rather slowly, and the public should realize after the first of the next month the 10 per cent. penalty would go on.

"You may say that we do not want to collect a penalty," he explained, "as we think the principal enough, and would like to see all merchants come in and pay before we have to affix the penalty. The saloon licenses are all about in and this year we issued 96, an increase of about 10 saloons over last year, I think."

JAPS DEPUSED.

They Leave 200 Dead and Wounded On the Field.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—Gen. Kuropatkin reports that the Russians repulsed our Japanese attacks against Simbelchin Sunday and Monday. The Japanese retired, leaving two hundred dead and wounded on the field.

BOTH LOCAL BOARDS MET LAST EVENING

The Electric Railway Ordinance up Again.

New Market House Was Accepted By the City Without Ob- jection.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARDS

The municipal legislative boards met last night in special session for the purpose of passing on the public improvement committee's report on the new market house contract.

Before the joint meeting, Mayor Yeiser called the boards together as a committee of the whole for the purpose of submitting a resolution to place the new market house in the hands of the board of public works, so that numbers could be placed on all stalls, benches and other equipment at the new market house, to prevent a complication in issuing license for the benches. The city was sued and lost case for re-renting a bench at the market house and specific arrangements were made in the resolution to prevent such an occurrence again.

The matter was discussed relative to how the benches should be rented, etc., some favoring renting for half a year and others for the entire year.

The matter was then left open for each board to act on separately.

Council Meeting.

The council was called to order with a full attendance, and Mayor Yeiser read his call.

The report of the public improvement committee was read. The committee found the contract complete in every detail except the storm water sewer connections, which were delayed by the failure of the sewers on Kentucky avenue to be in readiness for service.

Contractor Katterjohn stated that he was ready to connect as soon as the street sewers were in.

The recommendation of the committee to receive the new market house, was concurred in unanimously.

Insurance policies amounting to several thousand dollars, on the new market house, expiring in February, were presented to the council by Contractor Katterjohn and the thanks of the board extended.

The matter of getting out printed back rate lists was referred.

The matter of fixing license tax on sand wagons was referred.

The matter of fixing a license tax on sand wagons was referred.

Mayor Yeiser stated that he had instructed the clerk and proper officials not to issue any more license to loan companies because the rates charged were too heavy, and he thought the loan companies should be shut off if what he had heard was true regarding them. The matter was referred to the license committee, and the treasurer instructed to issue no more loan license until the matter was looked into.

Mayor Yeiser stated that complaint had been lodged of tobacco wagons blocking the sidewalk on West Broadway near 10th street.

Mr. Luther Graham, of the warehouse company, spoke a few words in defense of the tobacco men. He said when the city had Broadway blocked, the private alley of the tobacco men was ruined by public travel, permitted for convenience to the city at large. He wanted to have the city give the tobacco men 15 minutes to load one wagon in.

There is an ordinance now in effect prohibiting blocking the pavements, and Mayor Yeiser stated the city could remedy the matter by ordinance, only, and would recommend that the matter be referred to the street and ordinance committee.

The warehouse people did not want to risk being arrested, and wanted the city to give a special permit to hack wagons across the sidewalk.

Mr. P. D. Fitzpatrick, of the Transfer Co., which handles the tobacco hogsheads, stated that the ordinance at present was so constructed that it was impossible to live up to it.

Mayor Yeiser stated he did not think the city should give the special permit to one and not the other, and if one was given such privilege, all should be.

Councilman Taylor moved that the prosecution of the tobacco warehouse people for blocking the streets be held up until the matter could be remedied.

The motion to refer the matter to the street committee was adopted.

The motion to make the city's $2,000 note, given in payment for the Gilbert property at Tenth and Clay streets, now used as a fire station, into two notes of $1,000 each, was adopted. This was done in order to divide the money among the Clark heirs, the former owners of the property.

The motion to turn the new market house over to the board of public works was adopted.

The ordinance creating the office of electrical inspector was given a second reading. This is the ordinance presented by the insurance men.

The ordinance giving the Paducah and Cairo electrical road right of way from Third and Clay, out Clay to Eighth and then northwest, across the I. C. tracks, was read.

Mr. John Donovan, agent for the I. C., made a speech against the right of way, saying the I. C. would not fight the road coming into Paducah, but did object to its crossing the I. C. tracks at that point. He said if the city did grant the right of way the I. C. would go to the courts for redress.

Attorney Tom Harrison, of the electrical road, made a short speech exhibiting a plat of the proposed route of his road. He stated the route taken by his road would not interfere with the I. C. in the least.

Councilman Rehkopf stated that every thing the I. C. was asked to do heretofore, even to the putting in of street gates, was fought and that the only thing the I. C. was fighting the electrical road for was because it would require the I. C. to cut freight rates on the Cairo extension. The ordinance was given second reading.

The bond of City Physician Rivers was accepted.

President Ingram, who had overlooked the appointment of his telephone and telegraph committee, announced the committee. He appointed Councilmen McBroom, Barnett and Taylor.

The board by motion adjourned.

Board of Aldermen Meeting.

The board of aldermen was called to order at 8:40 o'clock with all members present.

President Davis appointed his committees as previously announced and the report of the public improvement committee recommending the acceptance of the new market house contract read. The action of the council in accepting the job was concurred in.

The matter of printing a card of hack rates was referred to the printing committee.

The action of the council in regard to regulating loan company license, was ratified. Also the matter of relieving the barbers of a bath room license tax; also the matter of making two notes of $1,000 out of the $2,000 note for the Tenth and Clay street fire station property; also the acceptance of City Physician Rivers' bond.

The matter of granting W. N. Levan privilege of operating a ferryboat across Tennessee river, from Paducah to Livingston Point, was referred.

The apportionment ordinance was placed on second passage without change.

The ordinance creating the office of city electrician was read.

Alderman Bell spoke in favor of the inspector, but thought that Chief Woods, of the fire department, ought to do the work. Mayor Yeiser stated that the chief of the fire department was supposed to look after the wiring and this was the purpose of the ordinance.

Alderman Kraus thought if the ordinance meant the creating of an assistant to Chief Woods, he was against it, as he thought the insurance men should look after bad wiring if it was of such vital importance and meant a protection to them. He stated he was against hiring an extra man, or increasing the duties of Fire Chief Woods.

President Davis stated he was opposed to creating a new office such as the ordinance suggested.

The ordinance was given first reading by a vote of 7 to 1. Alderman Kraus voting no.

The electrical railway ordinance brought forth much comment.

Alderman Farley stated that he understood all the electrical railroad wanted was simply to get into the city, but as he was unacquainted with the lower end of town, would like to be excused from voting.

Alderman Bell stated that the I. C. had a regular net work of tracks in the vicinity of the crossing of the electrical road, and did not think the road should cross at Eighth street, but find a more suitable place. He said he would not favor the crossing at Eighth street because it looked like the electrical road had picked the worst place to cross.

Alderman Starks also stated he thought the site crossing very poorly selected. Alderman Bell stated he would not favor the ordinance because one strip of ground where the I. C. had located extra tracks, was in dispute, and might cause a future complication.

Attorney Jno. G. Miller, who represented the electrical road, claimed the city owned the property at the crossing.

Alderman Farley moved to lay the ordinance over until the next meeting in order to let everybody see the exact situation and vote intelligently on the ordinance. The motion to give first reading preceded that of Alderman Farley, and the ordinance given first reading by a vote of 5 to 3, the republicans voting nay.

A petition from property owners to gravel Twenty-first street from Broadway to Jackson was referred.

President Davis recommended that the matter of deciding what streets should be improved this year be done immediately, but as the board of public works had a report to come in shortly, the matter was left open.

The action of the council in regard to the tobacco warehouse people blocking Broadway near Tenth street was ratified.

The board, by motion, adjourned.

Eva Tanguay and the presentation of her new musical travesty, "The Sambo Girl."

In "The Sambo Girl" Miss Tanguay is said to have found a particularly suitable vehicle for the display of her unique personality, and her management have supplemented this by supplying her with a splendid company.

Miss Tanguay and "The Sambo Girl" will form the attraction at The Kentucky tomorrow night. Seats now on sale.

Since W. C. Crain produced "A Trip to Africa," the excellent musical comedy, with John Larkins as the stellar attraction, he has gained for the production such favorable comment that he himself has been favorably and pleasantly surprised.

Larkins is supported by a comedy of thirty artists of ability, and the offering is one that appeals to the appreciation of any audience, especially if it is one that loves the perfect in music. The company opened their season at the Third Avenue Theatre, New York, to a tremendous business.

They will appear at The Kentucky Thursday night. Halcyon for colored people that night.

A pretty girl, dressed in white representing each state in the Union is a feature of the big rally scene in George Ade's, "The County Chairman," which Henry W. Savage offers at the Kentucky on Friday night.

It is at the close of this scene, which takes place in an open grove near Antioch, a Middle Western Village, that the two political factions have a grand set to which is starting in its realism. This takes place just after Tillford Wheeler the young candidate for states attorney has denounced Judge Higby, his opponent, as a first class, all around scoundrel. Seats on sale Thursday morning 10 a. m.

The production of the famous morality play "Everyman," at The Kentucky tonight by Rudolph E. Magnus and his company, cannot fail to arouse the interest not only of regular theatre-goers, but of the clergy and church members, and all students of literature and history. No modern dramatic work has created such a deep impression as this strange old play of the Middle Ages, which is known to have been frequently played in England and western Europe during the fifteenth century.

To insure an intelligent and artistic performance, Mr. Magnus has surrounded himself with an exceptionally capable company of experienced artists. Mr. Magnus' interpretation of the exciting title role and the work of his associates have been very highly commended by the critics.

Special scenery and elaborate costumes designed from old English drawings, will add to the interest in this engagement, which promises to be one of the most notable of the season.

With many plays, the last act is tacked on, merely to straighten out the tangles, and wind up things happily. This is not the case with the Majesty and the Maid, in which Mary Emerson will be seen here on Friday matinee and night. The plot is consistent and told in a most interesting manner. There is one character in the play which is not essential to the development of the story. His Majesty and the Maid was one of the few dramatic novelties of last season. That it was appreciated as such was evident from the cordial support given Miss Emerson by press and public. The situations are new, and they have been handled in a novel manner.

Manager English, of The Kentucky, has invited the ministers of the city to attend the production of "Everyman" at The Kentucky tonight, and most of them have accepted.

The Good Old Way.

A severe cold or attack of influenza is like a fire, the sooner you combat it the better your chances are to overpower it. But few mothers in this age are willing to do the necessary work required to give a good old-fashioned reliable treatment such as would be administered by their grandmothers, backed by Roscoe's German Syrup, which was always liberally used in connection with the home treatment of colds and is still in greater household favor than any known remedy. But even without the application of the old-fashioned aids German Syrup will cure a severe cold in quick time. It will cure colds in children or grown people. It relieves the congested organs, allays the irritation, and effectively stops the cough. Any child will take it. It is invaluable in a household of children. Trial size bottle, 25c; regular size, 75c. For sale by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

Mr. Hal Powell, who has been attending the bedside of his father, Col. L. V. Powell, has returned home to Bradford.

AN INNOVATION.

New Kind of Coupling Being Tried On I. C. Trains.

What is known as the McLaughlin conduit is being tried on the first class passenger train engines out of Paducah on the I. C. and if proven successful will permanently replace the old style rubber hose steam connections from the engine to the tank and line of coaches, used in conducting steam for heating purposes.

The old rubber hose often melted and bursted causing a great deal of trouble, but the new invention is much stronger and better adapted and is guaranteed not to burst or lose steam. The first was placed on the Cairo accommodation train engine and has proven successful. Ten sets of the couplings have been received and all first class passenger engines will be supplied as the value of the article increases and the officials think it safe to make them permanent.

Cured Lumbago.

A. B. Canran, Chicago, writes March 4, 1903: "Having been troubled with lumbago at different times and tried one physician after another; then different ointments and liniments, gave it up altogether. So I tried once more, and got a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, which gave me almost instant relief. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will add my name to your list of former sufferers." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

FITTINGS HERE.

Plant for the Woodworking Department May Not Be Completed Before Spring.

The fittings for the steam heating plant at the woodworking department of the local I. C. shops have arrived and are being prepared by a man especially assigned to this work. It was announced several weeks ago that the road would replace the stoves now in use in the planing mill for radiators and make more room and preclude the possibility of fires. The fitting delayed the immediate installation of the plant, but now the work will be pushed but it is hardly possible the plant will be ready for use before spring is here.

Imperfect Digestion

Means less nutrition and in consequence less vitality. When the liver fails to secrete bile, the blood becomes loaded with bilious properties, the digestion becomes impaired and the bowels constipated. Herbine will rectify this; it gives tone to the stomach, liver and kidneys, strengthens the appetite, clears and improves the complexion, infuses new life and vigor to the whole system. 50 cents a bottle. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

—The remaining stock of the Famous Pants Factory is being removed by Mr. Louis Levy to 111 South Second street, which building Mr. Levy has leased to close out the stock of the defunct concern.

The Weather.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

The situation in St. Petersburg, while had enough, has doubtless been grossly exaggerated. That there is no real danger of a revolution as yet is shown by the comparatively insignificant proportions of the "uprising." Russia is given in the latest census, 129,044,514 people. St. Petersburg, the capital, and the scene of so much bloodshed Sunday, has a population of 1,267,023. It is not claimed even in the most sensational reports that more than a few thousand,—a hundred or two thousand people, at most,—were involved in the demonstration which resulted in such a shedding of blood. Those were a mere handful even in St. Petersburg, and St. Petersburg is only a small part of Russia, hence the talk of a revolution, appears to be unfounded. There are enough people in any country to cause an insurrection if they wanted to, especially in Russia, where it has long been a problem how to control those classes who are urged by the aristocracy on one hand to believe that they are well-treated and satisfied when they are not, and are asked by the socialist-billiat agitators on the other hand, to believe that they are a great deal worse off than they really are.

Russia is a strong nation, and it is more than probable that the claim of the government that Sunday's disorder was a mere local revolt will be borne out by subsequent developments.

It is only a matter of time, however, until the Russian government must change, as all do sooner or later. As the human race progresses in civilization it learns to abhor ousman rule, and revolution and revolt will doubtless come in Russia as in other countries; but when they do, it will not be the lower classes,—the rabble,—who bring it and will rule but those wise, patriotic men, who,

like our own Revolutionary forefathers, wanted freedom for the greatest good to the greatest number.

The mayor of Bridgeport, Conn.,

has had an ordinance introduced reducing the salary of his office, explaining that he is not worth the $3,000 a year paid him, and that no other mayor would be. It is a pity other mayors cannot be equally as conscientious with their constituents. But then perhaps it's only a good mayor who knows his own worth and is not afraid to let others know it.

It is very evident that the job of auditor's agent is a good thing for somebody. If the men and firms recently sued here owed what was claimed, it is a good thing for them;

if they did not owe it, it is a good thing for the agent.

Those who have long wondered why, now know. He was elected because he is such a Smooth Boy

Relatives Are Heard From.

The remains of John Lally, the river fireman who died Sunday night

over the Alex. Storrie saloon, of pneu-

This morning the police depart-he had a mother and sister residing

The latter was referred to the plain assisted at Kenton by an evangelistic

Charles E. Woodcock, D. D., as bishop of Kentucky, will take place tomorrow morning at the St. John Episcopal church, Detroit. The day selected for the consecration commemorates the conversion of St.
Paul. Many prominent Louisville churchmen will attend, and probably others from Kentucky. A number of Paducahans received invitations but no one will go from here. Dr. Woodcock expects to reach Kentucky not later than February 3. The Episco-

The ways of the revenue agent are clear when it is seen how Agent Abbott recently worked his rabbit's foot in Paducah. He sued for back taxes on over two million dollars' worth compromised were compromised at remarkably low figures, considering everything. He settled with one firm that he claimed in his suit owed on $150,000 valuation, for $238.30.

ROBERT BARR.
Author of "Jennie Baxter," Journalist, Etc.

"Of course I should not have troubled you in this matter did I not think that if the arrangement your father wished to make was important this morning it is ten times more important tonight. Indeed, his liberty may depend upon it. I am well aware that it is open to me to say to the lady, 'Lord Strafford is in prison and is unable to carry out his generous intentions,' but I fear the deep disappointment will outweigh the force of the reasoning. Your charming sex is not always strictly logical."

"What was the sum agreed upon?" asked Frances, looking suddenly up.

"A thousand pounds in gold."

The question had been spring upon him, and he had answered without thought, but as he watched her resolute face a shade of disappointment passed over his own, as if of inward regret that he had not made the amount larger should her determination prove his ally.

"I shall see that you get the money. If not tonight at the time promised."

She sent for Vollius and placed the case before him. The treasurer stood by the table with inscrutable face and listened to Frances' somewhat furtive look bent on the Frenchman.

"Has M. De Courcy some scrap of writing in which my lord signifies that so considerable a payment is to be made?"

"My dear fellow, this relates to business that is not put in writing between gentlemen," said the foreigner hastily.

"I am not a gentleman, but merely the custodian of his lordship's purse. I dare not pay out gold without his lordship's warrant over his own signature."

"Mr. Vollius," pleaded the girl eagerly, "my father's life and liberty may depend on this disbursement. I will be your warrant. I have money of my own in the north, many times the sum I request you to pay. Should my father object I will refund to you the thousand pounds. Indeed, I will remit it to you in any case, and my father need know nothing of this transaction, therefore you cannot be held in fault."

"I must not do it," said Vollius. "His lordship is a very strict man of business and will hold me to account. He would forgive you, madam, but would be merciless with me did I consent to so unheard of a proposal. I dare not count on a thousand pounds to the first man who steps from the street and asks for it, giving me his bare word."

"But you have my word as well, Mr. Vollius," urged the girl.

"Madam, I beseech you to consider my position. I am but a servant. The money is not mine or you were welcome to it. Yet why all this haste? His lordship can undoubtedly be communicated with tomorrow, and then a word or line from him is sufficient."

"You have an adage, sir, of striking while the iron is hot. The iron may be cool enough by the time your scraps of legality are satisfied," warned De Courcy.

"His lordship can be communicated with. You are quite right, Mr. Vollius," cried Frances, remembering. "He has communicated with me. I ask you to read this letter and then to pay the thousand pounds required of you."

Vollius read the letter with exasperating slowness and said at last:

"There is nothing here authorizing me to pay the gentleman a thousand pounds."

"True, there is not, but my father says you are to pay me what money I require. I require at this moment a thousand pounds in gold."

"The money is for your safe conduct to the north."

"You have read my father's letter more carefully than I supposed by the time you took. He says you are to fulfill my wishes in this and every respect. Do you still refuse me?"

"No, madam, but I venture to advise you strongly against the payment."

"I thank you for your advice. I can certify that you have done your duty fully and faithfully. Will you kindly bring forth the gold?"

Vollius weighed the five bags of coin with careful exactitude and without further speech. De Courcy fastened them to his belt, then looked about him for his cloak, which he at last remembered to have left in the hall. Vollius called upon a servant to fetch it, taking it from him at the door. The Frenchman enveloped himself and so hid his treasure. The cautious Vollius had prepared a receipt for him to sign, made out in the name of Frances Wentworth, but De Courcy demurred; it was all very well for the counting house, he said, but not in the highest society. The Earl of Strafford would be the first to object to such a course, he insisted.

Frances herself tore the paper in pieces and said that a signature was not necessary, while Vollius made no further protest. She implored De Courcy in a whispered adieu to acquit faithfully the commission with which her father had entrusted him, and he assured her that he was now confident of success, thanking her effusively for the capable conduct of a difficult matter of diplomacy. Then, with a sweeping gesture of obeisance, he took his furtive departure.

Mr. Vollius deferentially asked Frances to sign a receipt which he had written, acknowledging the payment of a thousand pounds, and to this document she hurriedly attached her signature.

CHAPTER VI.

FRANCES made her way to the north, as her father had directed, and everywhere found the news of his arrest in advance of her—the country abuzz with excitement because of it. The world would go well once Strafford was laid low. He had deluded and misled the good king, as Buckingham did before him. Buckingham had fallen by the knife; Strafford should fall by the ax. Then the untrammelled king would rule well; quietness and industry would succeed this unhealthy period of fever and unrest.

The girl was appalled to meet everywhere this intense hatred of her father, and in her own home she was surrounded by it. Even her brother could not be aroused to sympathy, for he regarded his father not only as a traitor to his country, but as a domestic delinquent also, who had neglected and deserted his young wife, leaving her to die uncomfited without even a message from the husband for whom she had almost sacrificed her good name, bearing uncomplaining his absence and her father's wrath.

During the winter Frances saw little of her brother. Thomas Wentworth was here and there riding the country, laughing, with the confidence of extreme youth, that he was mixing in great affairs, as indeed he was, although he was too young to have much influence in directing them. The land was in a ferment, and the wildest rumors were about. Strafford had escaped from the Tower and had taken flight abroad, like so many of his friends who had now scattered in fear to France or to Holland. Again it was said the king's soldiers had attacked the Tower, liberated Strafford, and the Black Man was at the head of the wild Irish, resolved on the subjugation of England. Next, the queen had called on France for aid, and an invasion was imminent.

So there was much secret preparation, drilling and the concealing of arms against the time they should be urgently needed, and much galloping to and fro; a stirring period for the young, an anxious winter for the old, and Thomas Wentworth was in the thick of it all, mysteriously departing, unexpectedly returning, always more foolishly important than there was any occasion for. Yet had he in him the making of a man who was shortly to be tried by fire and steel when greater wisdom crowned him than was at present the case.

Since the letter she had received on the night of his arrest, the daughter heard no word from the father. Had he again forgotten, or were his messages intercepted? She did not know and was never to know. She had written to him, saying she had obeyed him, but there was no acknowledgment that her letter had reached its destination. Thus she waited and waited, gnawing impatience and dread chasing the rose from her cheeks, until she could wait no longer. Her horse and the southern road were at her disposal, with none to hinder, so she set forth for London, trusting herself for this in spirit breaking her father's command by the assurance that he had not forbidden her return.

She avoided her father's mansion, knowing that Lady Strafford and her children were now in residence there, and went to the inn where she had formerly lodged. She soon learned that it was one thing to go to London and quite another to obtain entrance to Westminster hall, where the great trial, now approaching its end, was the fashionable magnet of the town. No place of unimportant over collected such audiences, and although money will overcome many difficulties, she found it could not purchase admission to the trial through any source that was available. Perhaps if she had been more conversant with the ways of the metropolis the golden key might have been back the bolt, but with her present knowledge she was at her wit's end.

Almost in despair a happy thought occurred in her. She wrote a note to John Vollius, her father's treasurer, and asked him to call upon her, which the good man did at the hour she set. "Your father would be troubled to know you are in London when he thinks you safe at home," he said.

"I could not help it, Mr. Vollius. I was in a fever of distraction and must have come even if I had walked. But my father need never know, and you remember he wrote that you were to help me. I wish a place in Westminster hall and cannot attain it by any other means in my power than by asking you."

HE FOUND IT.

Just As He Recommended.

"I bought a fifty cent package of Pyramid Pile Cure from my druggist and have used two dollar packages since. I find them just as you recommended them to be. I have not felt the least sign of piles since using your remedy three months ago. If you want to use my name you may do so, as I feel like a new man. I now have no trouble with the dreadful, aggravated disease."

"I meant to write you sooner, but thought I would wait until I was cured. I thank you for your wonderful Pile Cure. I was a great sufferer from piles." Fred Deerr, R. F. D. 4, New Brunswick, N. J.

Seldom, if ever, is there any doubt about the effect produced by the use of Pyramid Pile Cure, as is shown by the experience given above. The proprietors of this remedy have thousands of similar letters on file, and surely no better proof of the merit of the preparation could be asked, when it is borne in mind that these letters are wholly unsolicited, there is certainly cause for pride in the remedy.

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for fifty cents a package, and if yours hasn't it he will get it for you if asked to do so. Accept no substitutes, and remember there is no other remedy "just as good." Everyone is urged to write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for the little book describing the causes and cure of piles, as it affords much useful information and is sent free for the asking.

MAKING INQUIRY.

Wm. H. Koettler, of the Scholz Pharmacy, St. Louis, has written Coroner James Crow to ascertain if James R. Ashland died in the city hospital here. He said the young man, who was about 29, formerly worked for him, and contracted the cocaine habit, and it is reported that he died here. Coroner Crow found no records of such a death, and if the young man died here it was probably under an assumed name.

NO CHARGE AGAINST THEM

Jesse D. Johnson, aged 16, of Celina, O., and Ward W. Waters, age 19, of Chicago, two well dressed and genteel appearing young men, were taken into custody this morning at the I. C. depot by Special I. C. Officer James Flournoy and Officers Scott Ferguson and Aaron Hurley, for running away from home, but it developed that the young men are not totally unable to take care of themselves, and are moreover about as "wise" as to worldly ways as youngsters of their experience could possibly be, and the officers could do no more than them in communicating with parents.

Johnson was attending the Culver military academy in Culver, Ind., and two weeks ago got tired of the rigid discipline and decided to skedaddle. His room furnishings cost in the neighborhood of $300 and young Johnson wrote his father that he did not like the academy and had decided to remain no longer. He received no encouragement to leave and finally secured his belongings and held a private auction at the school. He disposed of his effects, entire room furnishings, etc., at about $60 and left the school. At Cincinnati he met young Waters in a hotel and they struck up a partnership. Waters himself had been attending the University of Illinois, and ran away and the two agreed to "go the country" together.

They came here on a freight train yesterday morning and remained until caught at the depot by the police this morning while trying to get out of town for the south. They are honest boys and aside from riding dead-head, have done nothing.

Johnson stated that he had telegraphed his father and if he wanted him to return home, would do so, but if he didn't would try to go to work here or anywhere he could find it.

Waters says he intends working in Paducah as what he has seen of the town "looks good." The boys are making the police station headquarters during their stay here.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

What People Say of the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

PADUCAH, KY., March 5, 1903.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I was a sufferer with indigestion for five years and could get no relief until I bought one bottle of Shoffner's Sure Cure, and it helped me so much that I took six bottles, and it has cured me sound and well, thanks to the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

Mrs. JOHN SMILEY, 806 S. Third St.

This is to certify that I believe the Shoffner's Sure Cure saved my life. I was not able to sit up in bed when I began taking the remedy. I had such a severe cough I thought I had consumption. Physicians had given me up to die. After taking one bottle I was able to sit up some. After using five bottles I was fully restored to health. I cannot say enough in favor of this wonderful remedy for indigestion.

Capital Tom Gorman and Capt.

J. M. Arkley, of New Orleans, who brought the Red River fleet here, were meeting many friends in the city this morning. The boats Scovel and Red River need repairs and were to have been pulled out on the ways, but it is said the ways people on account of the work on hand, cannot get them out before a week or 12 days.

Hundreds of wild geese made their appearance on the ice this morning, probably brought on in greater numbers by the north winds and snow.

The three Red river boats, Scovell, Red River and Electra, arrived yesterday afternoon from Cairo, and will remain until they can get to the mouth of the Cumberland.

THE Y. M. C. A.

REORGANIZATION EFFECTED AT MEETING LAST EVENING.

In the Near Future a Membership Contest Will Be In- augurated.

The joint conference between Secretary Blake Godfrey, the woman's committee and the old board of directors at the Y. M. C. A. building last night was highly satisfactory. A number of questions were discussed and decided on, and the old board of directors was practically reorganized, a number of new members being added.

The officers elected were as follows:

Attorney Joseph Grogan, re-elected president.

Dr. R. A. Hicks, vice president.

Prof. John D. Smith, treasurer and chairman of finance committee.

W. D. Deakins, recording secretary.

The board of directors consists of the above with the following: B. H. Scott, F. M. McGlathery, J. C. Critt Jones, Dr. B. B. Griffith, Fred McElwee, W. J. Hills, Dr. H. P. Sights, Capt. James Koger, Sam Hubbard and Mr. Wilkins.

It has been decided to begin an active canvass for new members. The old members will be accorded the privilege of the institution until their cards expire, and as soon as a suitable man for chairman of the membership committee is found by President Grogan, the arrangements for the contest will be started. It is expected that committees will be at once appointed and hold a meeting this week to outline future work.

The new directors elected last evening were: Mr. Ben. L. Matthis, Mr. W. D. Deakins and Mr. Wilkins. Mr. Matthis is a practical Y. M. C. A. man, formerly being gymnasium director here, and all three will give valuable aid to the work.

The woman's committee decided last evening to refrain from some of the upstairs rooms for the purpose of renting, so as to make the building pay for itself.

Secretary Godfrey gave many valuable suggestions to the boards which will be adopted by them in their work and carried out later.

MUST ACCEPT ALL.

None Can Be Excepted in Passing on Bittulthie Street.

Solicitor Ed Puryear has not drafted a formal opinion yet in regard to accepting the bitulthie work on Broadway, but it is understood that he has announced to members of the board of works that he does not believe the street can be accepted until it has been completed in every particular. The danger of establishing the precedent of accepting incomplete work with the understanding that it be completed, even could it be legally done, is very obvious, and while it is regrettable that the contractors are to be delayed in completing the work and getting their money, it is no more the fault of one than the other.

Workmen are now taking up rejected brick between the car tracks, and the work of tearing up the sidewalks on the south side of Broadway for the new pavements has started. The north side has been pretty well torn up.

MANY EXAMINATIONS.

The government civil service is preparing to hold many examinations all over the country for the hundreds of positions to be filled by the Indian canal commission. At the one here a few days ago there were nearly a dozen applicants for the positions. The next examinations are on February 13th for a variety of things, and following that there is one on March 8-9, for clerk, draughtsman and surveyor.

The local examiner, Mr. Fred H.

Ashton, today received still another notice, which is for an examination here March 1-2 for assistant in the Philippine service. Mr. Ashton will furnish all information desired.

Sometimes we set hard tasks for the want ads., but they rarely "fall down." For example, when girls for house work are really SCARCE, still the want ad. finds them—unless the supply for that particular day has been exhausted.
